DEFIED THE MOB

Fremont Sheriff Threatened to Shoot the First Man Who Attempted To Enter the Jail Door For Three Negroes.

Fremont, O., May 11—As a result of the killing here Saturday night of young Mischke, trouble with non-union negroes at Clauss shear works was expected this morning but it did not come. The locked out men outside the works permitted only a few non-union men to enter and no negroes attempted it. It is said that all negroes formerly employed have left town. Those who did the shooting are secure from mob violence in the Norwalk jail. J. H. Clauss, head of the shear works, decided to close the plant till Wednesday when it is hoped the excitement over Saturday's scrimmage will have subsided.

Fremont, O., May 11—Mob violence which was threatened in this city Saturday night as the result of the alleged killing of Otto Mischke by one of three negroes subsided at 4 o'clock Saturday morning. The three negroes who are charged with the crime are securely locked in the county jail at Norwalk and the excitement that was rampant has about subsided.

From 1 o'clock until about 4 o'clock, Sunday the jail building was surrounded by the angry crowd calling upon Sheriff Mason to deliver the prisoners. For an hour or more the sheriff stood on the front steps of his residence and admonished the threatening crowd to be careful and quiet. Sheriff Mason said that he had taken an oath to do his official duty and do it he would and he said he would shoot the first man who attempted to break down the jail door.

The negroes gave their names as Whesler Kimbro, Walter Stratton and Lorenzo Martin. Martin and Stratton had loaded revolvers.

The negroes who were in the street were offended at a question of Mrs. Albert Gommell as to who they were. Mrs. Gommell was on her way home with her husband and children. Mischke the victim of the bullet was living at the Gommell house which was in the vicinity of the affray and when he came to the door to see what the loud talk was about a bullet struck him in the stomach, inflicting a fatal wound.

The news of the murder spread rapidly and by the time the negroes were under arrest a very large crowd had gathered and it was with the utmost difficulty that the police reached the jail was their prisoners, where they arrived just in the nick of time, so fast did the mob's size and violence increase. Hearing the crowd outside the jail, the colored prisoners were terror stricken and begged the sheriff to protect them. They set up a claim that they were first called names.

ROBIN HOOD

His Code as a Philanthropist is Compared With That of John D. Rockefeller.

Lincoln, Neb., May 11—In spite of the public support of John D. Rockefeller by Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews of the University of Nebraska, the capitalist's provisional money gift for a new building near the university campus will probably be declined.

The Lincoln Evening News published this criticism of Rockefeller:

"Whether to quiet his conscience or to propitiate the public, Rockefeller has given millions to the church and the university. Robin Hood had a better code. He robbed the rich and gave food to the poor."

On the deck of the steamer Umbria, at New York, a box containing an infernal machine and 100 pounds of dynamite was found Saturday afternoon a few minutes before the explosion should have occurred. It would have been discharged by clockwork. A letter warned the police of the presence of the box.

POLICE

Are Trying To Learn Who Sent That Infernal Machine.

New York, May 11—Fifty of the best men in the police department, and a score of private detectives are working today to solve the mystery surrounding the delivery of the infernal machine, charged with dynamite, at the Cunard steamship pier Saturday afternoon, for shipment on the Umbria. The clock work, dry electric batteries, fuse and button with a yachting emblem on it, and which may prove an important clue have been carefully examined. Police guards were detailed to the piers of English steamship lines today to guard against any repetition of the affair of Saturday. All baggage not accompanied by the owners was carefully examined. A letter which brought about the discovery of the infernal machine stated that all English ships were to be dynamited. The belief that the machine was a joke has evaporated.

Delegates to the conference of charities in session at Atlanta, Ga., among them several ladies, who visited the city prison on a tour of inspection, were forced to leave, owing to the shocking state of affairs they found existing. They found men, women and children, white and black, huddled together in one room, and gross misbehavior was practiced under the eyes of the keepers. Both white and colored men and women were gathered in the room at the time, and some of the scenes beggar description.

Skipper of Shamrock III. Captain Robert Wringe, who will command Shamrock III. Sir Thomas Lipton's latest candidate for America's cup honors, has had a lot of experience in American waters, having sailed the Belmont yacht for some time. He was also with Captain Hogarth on the Shamrock I. He was chosen instead of Captain Sycamore, who sailed the second Shamrock. Sir Thomas and Captain Wringe believe the Shamrock III. will win the cup. In fact, the general feeling in England seems to be that if the cup ever returns to England Captain Wringe is the man to do the trick.

JETT

In Jail for Murder of Marcum

Fugitive Made No Fight When Arrested.

DECLARES THAT HE DID NOT KILL THE LAWYER.

HARGIS TALKS OF THE ARREST.

Curt Jett May Return to Jackson a Corpse—Deputy Ewen Not Badly Injured.

Winchester Ky., May 11—Tom Cockrill filed an affidavit charging Curtis Jett with having assassinated Lawyer Marcum at Jackson, Ky., and the arrest of Jett was made here Sunday. Sheriff McCord was not willing to undertake the arrest till the warrant, which was sworn out at Lexington should reach Winchester, but finally on the strength of a telephone message from Judge Back of Jackson, now in Lexington, giving assurance that five good men would swear they saw Jett run up and shoot Marcum in the head. A new warrant was issued and the sheriff with seven men started for the Hagin home, where Jett was known to be. Jett was lying on the bed in his night dress, with his head propped up on his left elbow and a big pistol lying on the bed in front of him.

"Hello, Curt," said McCord, who knows him well, "I have a warrant here for your arrest on the charge of murder."

"All right," said Jett, "I submit." Jett arose, dressed himself, and, handing the pistol to his mother, announced that he was ready. On the way back he was quite talkative. He seemed to regard his arrest as of little consequence, saying he was innocent and would certainly be released at his examining trial. He spoke bitterly of his uncle, Sam Jett and of others whom he claimed were persecuting him. With reference to Judge Back he said he regarded him as a good man and had nothing against him.

A correspondent visited Jett in jail, but Jett had nothing to say except that he "didn't know anything about the bloody business, and didn't care a d—n."

"Were you in Jackson the day Marcum was killed?" asked the correspondent.

"Yes, I was there the day he was killed."

"Did you remain there until yesterday, when you left for Winchester?"

"I will not be led on. It makes no difference when I remained; you can't make me tell anything."

"It is said that Attorney John Patrick, Dr. J. M. Kash and others will swear they saw you shoot Marcum. How about that?"

"I didn't do it. I have nothing more to say."

"It is reported here that J. B. Ewen was assassinated at Jackson Saturday. Did that happen before you left there?"

"Don't know anything about it. I tell you I have no statement to make."

"I'll get out of this all right," was the only statement Jett would make that could be construed as a reference to the charge. He said he wanted to be tried in Breathitt. When asked in reference to the statement that five men would testify that he killed Marcum he simply sneered and replied, "What's that to you?"

Curtis Jett, 28 years of age, of slender build and fine physique, dark hair, blue eyes, regular features, and is quick of speech and action. His examining trial is set for Tuesday morning before Judge Pendleton.

It Is Not Improbable That the Reward for Conviction of the Murderer of the Young Woman Will Reach $25,000.

Lorain, Ohio, May 11—From developments it is not improbable that the money to be used in the investigation of the Reichlin mystery will reach $25,000 within a week.

Charles W. Reichlin's church held a meeting Sunday and appointed a committee of 10 prominent residents of Lorain to solicit funds throughout the whole county to be devoted to the clearing of the baffling mystery.

The Signal charged that he was notoriously unfit for that or any other position of trust, honor or responsibility. They alleged the truth of the publication as their defense and went into Abell's conduct of the campaign of '99 to show that he was a corruptionist.

FATAL

RESULT OF A WOUND RECEIVED 40 YEARS AGO.

Wiseman Spencer Who Has Three Children Living in Newark, Died in Muskingum County.

Zanesville, Ohio, May 11—Wiseman Spencer, one of the best known citizens of northern Muskingum county, died at his home five miles south of Dresden, Sunday after a short illness of brain trouble.

During the civil war Mr. Spencer, a gallant union soldier, was desperately wounded, being shot in the breast, the bullet passing through his lungs and lodging in his spine. His recovery under the circumstances was considered little short of miraculous, and the fact that his wound rarely bothered him was little less than remarkable.

About two weeks ago, however, he began to be bothered with headaches and dizziness, which grew worse and terminated fatally Sunday. The attending physician says the fatal trouble undoubtedly was caused by the wound received when a strong young man, forty years ago, and whose fatal effect was in some unaccountable manner suspended throughout this long period.

Mr. Spencer was aged 62 years and a model citizen. Besides a host of friends, he leaves a widow and eight children. One of the children lives in Colorado, three in Newark and the remainder in Muskingum township. They are as follows: Charles Spencer, of Muskingum county; Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Shade of Newark; Mrs. Lydia Minner, of Ault, Colo.; Minot Spencer of Muskingum township, and Miss Olive May and Rhea. Miss Olive Spencer recently graduated at the Newark High school and for a time read law with Attorney Carl Norpell. The interment will take place at the Muskingum Presbyterian cemetery on Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

who was near the courthouse when Marcum was assassinated last Monday, left here Saturday. Jett was suffering from a finger he had amputated as the result of a railroad accident two weeks ago.

Judge Hargis, when asked whether he had issued a warrant charging Jett with the murder of Marcum, stated that he had not, but that he was ready to issue a warrant for Jett or for anyone else for whom a warrant was demanded. Judge Hargis also stated that immediately after the killing of Marcum he sent for Deputy Sheriff B. J. Ewen, the friend of Marcum, and told him to summon as many men as were needed and make a vigorous search, and if possible to arrest the man who did the shooting, and sent County Attorney W. H. Blanton to the relatives of the dead man to tell them that he would be ready to do anything in the matter that they desired. That when these means failed he telegraphed Governor Beckham and asked him to offer a reward.

Hargis added that he had done all he knew to do toward bringing the murderer of Marcum to justice, and that he stood ready to do anything toward this end that the public demanded.

AS A DEAD MAN

Jett May Return to Jackson, Believes Tom Cockrill.

Lexington, Ky., May 11—Tom Cockrill, the Jackson feudist, stated here that he had heard from Jackson and that the news of the arrest of Curtis Jett had been received there with satisfaction. He also intimated that it would be useless to take Jett back to Breathitt for trial as a fair and impartial trial could not be obtained owing to the fear of a re-sensitization. He expressed his doubts of Jett ever reaching Jackson alive, suggesting possible assassination on the way despite the vigilance of the officers who might have him in charge.

Sheriff McChord, stated that he would take Jett to Jackson Wednesday. McChord will have his prisoner well guarded and guarantee that he will deliver him to the jailer of Breathitt alive and well.

Authentic reports were received here to the effect that Deputy Sheriff B. J. Ewen was not injured when shot at yesterday, the bullet merely grazing his hat. It is not known who fired this shot.

FRANK D. HALL SUCCESSFUL

Induced Dr. Howard Company to Make Special Price.

After a great deal of effort and correspondence Frank D. Hall, the popular druggist, has succeeded in getting the Dr. Howard Co. to make a special half-price introductory offer on the regular fifty cent size of their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia.

This medicine is a recent discovery for the cure of all diseases of the stomach and bowels. It not only gives quick relief, but it makes permanent cures.

Dr. Howard's specific has been so remarkably successful in curing constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles, that Mr. Hall is willing to return the price paid in every case where it does not give relief.

The old fashioned idea of dosing with mineral waters, cathartic pills or harsh purgatives will soon be a thing of the past. The best physicians are prescribing Dr. Howard's specific because it really gives the desired results and on account of the small and pleasant dose that is needed.

So great is the demand for this specific that Mr. Hall has been able to secure only a limited supply and every one who is troubled with dyspepsia, constipation or liver trouble should call upon him at once, or send 25 cents and get sixty doses of the best medicine ever made, on this special half price offer, with his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

The Cry of the Loon.

The cry of the loon is one of the strangest, wildest sounds in nature. Those who have heard it can scarcely wonder that it has so often been woven into song and legend.

A blood curdling, long wailing cry. It is the cry of the loon. Ah, me! Ah, me! I heard the cry of the loon. Ah, me! Ah, me! I heard the cry of the loon. Ah, me! Ah, me! I heard the cry of the loon.

Almost all writers who have attempted to describe the cry of this bird have likened it to unwhimsical laughter. Thus Mr. Vernon Bailey, speaking of the sound describes it as follows: "Only on the lonely lake in the heart of the woods do you get the startling thrill of the loon's wild cry—one clear, piercing note or a long, quivering, demoniacal laugh that to the timid suggests a herd of screaming panthers."

Right Trusses.

There Should be no Guesswork About Trusses

They have an important mission. They must do what they should or they are worse than none. Many are sacrificing comfort and safety by wearing ill-fitting trusses. Others who might be cured by a rightly fitting truss are using none. Those we carry, are, we believe, the right ones. Can be fitted perfectly and exert a steady, even pressure. Wear well and can't easily get out of order.

How Some Men May be Mistaken.

At the meeting of the Democratic Central Committee, last Saturday, Judge J. D. Jones took occasion to say, in his speech, that the Advocate had failed to print figures and tables showing that American manufacturers sold their goods cheaper abroad than at home. We told the Judge he was mistaken and he offered to treat the convention if we could prove he was. Here is the proof. It is no use Judge Jones to treat. The following editorial, which is one of many, appeared in the Daily Advocate of August 25, and in the Semi-Weekly Advocate of August 29, 1902, and is as follows:

AGAINST THE AMERICAN FARMER.

How the tariff discriminates against the American farmer for the enrichment of the American manufacturer is a feature of injustice that is scarcely appreciated. The farmer is compelled by reason of this discrimination to pay nearly double the price for machinery and supplies necessary for him to purchase from American manufacturers than the foreigners pay for these goods.

	American price	Price to foreigners
Wire nails ( keg )	$ 2.25	$ 1.30
Wire rope ( coil )	12.00	5.00
Lead ( 100 lbs. )	4.00	2.00
Shovels ( dozen )	7.50	5.50
Axle grease ( lb )	.80	.40
Washboards ( doz )	3.00	1.70
Meat choppers	2.70	1.50
Barbed wire ( 100 lbs )	3.00	2.00
Clock ( alarm )	.60	.30
Lawn mowers	4.25	2.75
Fruit jars ( Mason dz )	.80	.55
Sewing machine	40.00	17.00

In the absence of a political miracle there will be no recognition of the Iowa idea by the Republican party, which goes before the people next year. Should the national platform contain such recognition it will be a triumph of political art. The possibility is altogether unlikely. Meanwhile the "idea" grows steadily among the voters. It promises ultimately to lead them in direct antagonism to Republican success.

And now there are intimations that if Russia insists on retaining Manchuria it will not be possible to dislodge her. What difference? We might as well be worrying about dislodging Great Britain in east Africa. European nations are going on with their schemes of conquest and expansion and our sensible course is to remain friendly with all of them, but keep them out of this continent.

Now that the British grain duties are to be abolished we hear nothing from those excited American protectionists who, when the government about a year ago levied these duties as an emergency tax, exuberantly announced that this step was the beginning of the end of free trade in Great Britain.

BRYAN TALKS

DECLARES CLEVELAND WILL NOT BE NOMINATED IN 1904.

Claims Candidate will Easily be Found. Need Not be Confronted to Any State.

Newark, N.J., May 11.—The News has the following from its Lincoln, Neb., correspondent:

Mr. Bryan's red brick house is more modern and much more pretentious than the old-fashioned home of Grover Cleveland at Princeton.

Mr. Bryan would not submit to an interview unless the questions were written and the answers recorded verbatim as he spoke them.

"Is it possible for Grover Cleveland to receive the Democratic nomination next year, Mr. Bryan?"

"There is not the remotest possibility of Mr. Cleveland's becoming the nominee. Even his staunchest friends would not risk him as a candidate," said Mr. Bryan.

"I am not in Mr. Cleveland's confidence," continued Mr. Bryan, "and therefore cannot give an inside explanation, but as an outsider, I venture to say that his purpose is positively to refuse to be a candidate after a while and then allow his friends to say that he would have been nominated and elected had he not refused to run. This might afford Mr. Cleveland some satisfaction as a salve for the bruises which he has nursed since 1896. There is a tail of the Democratic party which was very nearly pulled out seven years ago, that is just as monopolistic in its tendencies as the Republican party is."

"There are also a number of newspapers calling themselves Democratic that are as monopolistic as any of the Republican papers, and I will name a few of them. The Chicago Chronicle, Nashville American, Louisville Courier-Journal, Boston Herald, Philadelphia Record, New York Times, Brooklyn Eagle and some others. This class of newspapers can be relied upon to support any Republican policies, the financiers of the country are interested in. They keep up an attack on minor things and sometimes attack individual Republicans, but they are so closely allied to organized wealth that they simply deceive the people. If there were a law compelling these newspapers to carry the names of the men who dictate their policies, at the top of the editorial pages the people would know that the supposed editors had little or no voice. The so-called Democratic newspapers can be depended on to defend any Democrat who betrays his party and his constituents and abuse any Democrat who cannot be corrupted."

"This class of newspapers represent as public sentiment that which they desire the people to think is public sentiment."

Mr. Bryan said this in a way which made it plain that he thought this just what was done in the extensive comments on the ovation given Mr. Cleveland at St. Louis on dedication day. Mr. Bryan also made it plain that he did not consider the reception given Mr. Cleveland as being connected, so far as the people who made the noise were concerned, in the least with a presidential boom for Cleveland.

"Who is to be savior of the Democracy in 1904 and from what section of the country must he come," Mr. Bryan was asked.

"I cannot discuss any available individual for the nomination," he said. "The geographical position of the candidate will not figure in the advantages. It matters not what state he is from. He must have the qualities if we are to win. He must be in sympathy with the masses of the people, and possess the moral courage to defend their rights and the integrity to resist temptation."

"On what issues will the Democratic party base its hopes for success next year?"

"A party platform cannot be outlined so far ahead. Conditions are constantly changing and something is likely to rise to place an entirely new phase on the situation as it appears today."

"What do you think of the idea in some quarters that the powerful Wall street interests are to oppose President Roosevelt as the Republican nominee?"

"There is no evidence of it outside of the news that is controlled by Wall street. The bureau of commerce and the Elkins bill, which is said to have been drafted by the president of the Pennsylvania railway, are insignificant response for anti-trust legislation."

"What do you think of President Roosevelt's efforts towards a settlement by arbitration of the coal strike?"

"I think they were laudable. I have always believed strikes should be settled in that way."

"How do you feel about the merger decision in the Northern Securities case?"

"It was a righteous decision and I hope it will be sustained by the supreme court. But the merger decision scarcely touches the trust question. It is a fact that the people are paying tribute to a large number of trusts today and this is conclusive evidence that the present laws are not adequate or not properly enforced."

Shadow Superstitions.

Our proverb, "Devil catch the hindmost," is based on one of the curious shadow legends. According to the fable, the devil had a regular school at Toledo, Spain. Commencement was inaugurated by the graduating class running through a long subterranean hall. The devil hid at a place known only to himself, and if he "caught the hindmost" he ever after claimed him or her as his special property. Sometimes he only caught the shadow, and the persons thus deprived of their "second self" were supposed to make the best astrologers and magicians.

Nearly all East Indian tribes as well as the Malaysians and several African sects believe that if a man walks along the south bank of a river casting his shadow across the water a crocodile will seize it and thus draw the owner to certain death.

Several writers, like among the rest, say that the Zulus have a superstition similar to that of the old Babylonians—viz, that a dead body has no shadow. The Medocs and the Klamaths of Oregon formerly refused to have their pictures taken for fear that the process would take away their shadows. In the Aryan folk tale the "witchdado," or "infernal Sabbath," was celebrated only by witches' shadows.

Hitch Your Wagon to a Star.

A student of the horse thus explains where Emerson's epigram, "Hitch your wagon to a star," originated: Long before the war there was a famous trotting stallion of the name of American Star, belonging to one Seely. American Star mares became scattered all through New England and New York, for they were the best roadsters in the country, and every farmer must have one. It soon became well understood that in order not to lose the respect of the community one must drive nothing else. Later it became a subject of banter. If one farmer passed another on the road, he would look over his shoulder and shout, "Why don't you hitch your wagon to a star?" Unquestionably Emerson many a time had heard the remark, and in his lecture on "American Civilization" at the Smithsonian Institution in 1862 he rung it in for the first time, advising mankind in general to aim high and "Hitch your wagon to a star," thus converting a common incident into a figurative allusion.

A THEATER BOX

By some strange accident or mischance a beautiful bunch of blood red, half opened roses lay on one of the chairs. How they were mislaid was a mystery, and Derriek Wayne put them out of harm's way on the edge of the box, then leaned forward to observe the audience in the parterre. By some motion of his coat sleeve one of the large roses, loosened from the bunch, went flying downward, and with idle curiosity he bent over to see its destination.

Mr. Wayne looked down into the upturned face of a young lady. Of course it is rather unusual to have flowers drop into one's lap at a theater, so the young lady was excusable for looking up. The face upturned was a remarkably pretty one, with dark, luminous eyes, and her attire was a bewitching creation, evidently straight from Paris. In a moment she withdrew her gaze and settled back indifferently, twirling the rose in her fingers. But Mr. Wayne continued to stare at the top of her head.

"You came here to enjoy the stage," said his companion of the evening sentimentally, "not to attract the attention of the whole house by breaking your neck. What are you looking at, anyhow?" relapsing into curiosity.

"Nothing in particular," Wayne answered rather guiltily and viewed the stage hard for fifteen minutes before he became restless again. An idea came to him suddenly that pleased him—if only Smith would not observe him.

He gathered up the scattered flowers from the plush railing and twisted them into a compact crimson bunch. He leaned forward curiously and then hesitated. She sat as before, only the rose was in her hair this time.

It had come to him that, romantic as it seemed to him, the act he meditated would appear in a different light to any one else in the house who should chance to see him. But the lights were low except on the stage, and every one seemed absorbed in a blond hero who was in terrible straits. The bunch of roses was stealthily thrust out and poised in the air a moment, a mass of fragrance, then they dropped straight downward and landed, as he had intended, in her lap.

He saw her give a start, and for a moment she did not touch them, but finally she picked them up and carried them to her face. She did not look up at him, yet Wayne felt satisfied. When the lights were turned up at the close of the act, Smith remarked on his beaming face.

"I knew a theater was what you needed," he said. "See how much better you feel."

"Yes," answered Wayne promptly. "You prescribed the right remedy, Smith, old boy." He felt quite affectionate toward Smith.

During the last act a cold water shock went over Wayne. He had just remembered that the theater would not last forever, and when it was over she would be gone—where? He hastily looked down again in real anxiety. Yes, she was still there, which was a relief. But she was talking to a gentleman who had moved from the back of the box nearer her. He had heavy dark hair, and his shirt front gleamed coldly up at Wayne, who suddenly was conscious of a strong animosity toward heavy dark hair and polished starch.

"What are you so glum about?" inquired Smith cheerfully, noticing his friend's serious face. Wayne felt inclined to pick Smith up by the collar and toss him out of the box also for being so happy, but refrained upon reflection. He suddenly grew bright again. Perhaps Smith could help him, as he had a way of becoming acquainted in every town he visited. So, with great tact, he maneuvered the conversation around until at last he inquired: "Oh, say, Smith, do you know the people in the box below?"

Smith accommodately looked downward, while Wayne waited anxiously. "Looks like—let me see—the man—oh, yes," Smith said, breaking off his exasperatingly broken remarks. "The lady with the roses is Cecil Graham, and that fellow beside her with the black hair is Mr. Graham, her husband. Cecil was a great catch a year ago. She's a beauty yet!"

But Wayne heard no more. He felt completely nullified. He had not dreamed she was married. How lucky he had not told Smith about the roses! He felt very subdued and foolish and meekly made his way out through the crowd behind little Smith, who persisted in talking over his shoulder to him. At the foot of the foyer stairs Smith exclaimed—and Wayne heard him greet a lady—Mrs. Graham.

She was prettier than ever face to face, and her great fur cloak enhanced her loveliness. Her husband stood beside her, and Wayne was forced to admit that he was looking in spite of his instinctive dislike. Then suddenly Wayne found himself presented to his heroine of the evening and was vouchsafed a gracious smile. He glanced at the roses she carried, and he thought she flushed slightly, but it might have been a mistake. Anyhow she did not recognize him.

"Good night," she said, with a comprehensive smile. The roses were a blur against her furs. Then the crowd surged between them, and she was gone.

"Come along," said Smith. "You act dazed."

"Perhaps I am," grumbled Wayne.

Public Speaking.

The best way to prepare for a public address, said an English orator, is to construct a certain number of "islands," meaning thereby effective sentences, and then swim by extemporaneous effort from island to island when the hour of utterance comes. The most desirable island is to be reserved for the peroration.

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited. Few are entirely free from it. Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it. Common indications are bunches in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

HAT BLEW OFF

And In Attempting to Get It the Stranger Was Killed By Train at Union Street Crossing-- Identity Unknown.

A fatal accident occurred at the Union street railroad crossing Monday morning at 8:10 o'clock, the victim being a young man apparently about 22 years of age, dark curly hair, nearly of a blackish tinge, about 5 feet 4 inches tall and stoutly built.

The deceased was on B. & O. local west-bound freight with two companions. As the train crossed the canal bridge his hat blew off into the canal. He got off the train just as it got to Union street and before he could heed shouts of warning from his companions and others who saw his peril, he stepped directly in front of B. & O. passenger train No. 102, east bound, and was instantly killed. The engine struck him and he was hurled clear of the track. When he was picked up it was found that he was dead, his skull having been fractured, his side crushed and his legs broken, besides numerous bruises about the face.

McGonagle's ambulance was called and the body removed to his undertaking establishment where it was viewed by coroner, Dr. C. F. Legge.

A deck of cards, handkerchief, and clean pair of socks were all that was found in his pockets, not a scrap of paper being discovered that would disclose his identity.

An effort was made by Chief Clerk T. J. Daly, who telegraphed to Pataskala and stopped the local train to find out the dead man's name, but he was unsuccessful. The two men who were stopped at Pataskala gave the names of Williams and C. Morris.

They said the dead man was on the train when they got on and they knew nothing about him.

ELEVATOR FELL

Almost Causing a Panic Among Girls at Swishers' Cigar Factory--Ernest Moore and Joseph Sohn Hurt--How It Happened.

At 9:10 o'clock Monday morning a terrifying accident occurred at Swisher Bros' cigar factory on West Main street, that luckily was not attended by fatalities, and it is hoped not even serious injuries.

Ernest Moore 280 Buckingham street, and Joseph Sohn, employees of the factory, loaded the elevator with stock at the third floor, and then getting on themselves, started to descend. As the mechanism was released the elevator shot down to the cellar, there being seemingly no counterpoise to the load on the elevator, Moore and Sohn going down with it.

Workmen rushed to the cellar and found Sohn slightly bruised but not badly hurt, while Moore was lying helpless where he had fallen. He was carried upstairs and Dr. C. H. Stimson was called. The young man complained of his arms, legs and back, but the doctor was unable to tell at the time whether the sprain of the back was serious or not. It was seen that no bones were broken and the spinal cord was uninjured, evidence of the latter fact being that the nerves of voluntary motion of the lower limbs were seemingly in a normal state.

McGonagle's ambulance was called and the young man was taken home. For a time the 300 girls at work in the factory were nearly panic stricken, but except in one or two cases all returned to work, in a short time. Moore's sister was at work up stairs, but she was immediately informed that her brother was not badly hurt.

IDLEWILDE PARK

Is Being Made Ready for Summer Visitors--Park to Look Prettier Than Ever This Season--Some of the Things That are Being Done.

Manager Will D. Harris may be found at Idlewild Park at any time between 9 a. m. and 6 o'clock in the evening, working hard to get "Newark's Beauty Spot" ready for the summer business.

When one asks Mr. Harris the date of the opening he winks the other eye but from the looks of the things at the Park, it will not be a great while in the future.

The Park is putting on its spring dress and the park "milliners" are busy with the trimmings getting everything in place so that Miss Idlewild will look very sweet when she makes her bow to the public next month.

The most notable change at the park is the rebuilt casino. The theatre is now twice the size it was last year and will seat 1026 people. The old stage has been torn away and a new one built. The sides of the theatre were removed and extensions made so that on one side men may sit and smoke and on the other people may sit at tables and have refreshments served while the program on the stage is being carried out. Electric fans will be arranged so that the smoking department will in no way annoy those to whom tobacco smoke is distasteful. The entrance to the casino has been rearranged and the manager's office rebuilt.

Outside and near the casino a rustic bandstand has been built and here and there over the grounds may be seen a great many rustic benches with a number of covered rustic seats and over on the north side several cottages are being built.

Arrangements are being made to provide the park with twice as much electric lighting as used last year. This in itself will be a very striking feature and will make the park a delightful place to visit during the coming hot summer nights.

A contract has just been made with George L. Miller who will furnish a large number of flowers which will be artistically arranged in a dozen flower beds.

The walks are to be regraded and the beach at the lakes provided with fresh clean sand. A fine base ball ground is being arranged and one of the features of the park this year will be its base ball with a strong local team competing with other teams of the state and with a number of the professional teams.

A great many features will be offered that Manager Harris doesn't care to enumerate at the present time but he promises plenty of first class amusement as soon as the park opens. The vaudeville artists will be the best and the music will be undoubtedly splendid as Mr. Fred Neddermeyer and his musicians are to furnish it.

"Case," the Columbus theatrical paper, has this to say:

Newark, which in the matters of amusement, is taking on urban airs, has arranged with Columbus for the best organized body of musicians that the city boasts in Fred Neddermeyer's band and orchestra, which during the summer will furnish music at the Idlewild Park. For three seasons at the Great Southern and this season at the Empire, Neddermeyer has had practically the same men under him, with the result that the playing shows that unity and spirit which it is impossible to achieve in a hastily gathered lot of musicians. Both the director and the men under him are practically familiar with the style of music that is met in popular playhouses and have developed to a high degree the faculty of sight reading and of rapidly taking up cues, which is essential to success in such a theatre. Added to this they have a repertoire of popular and classical numbers that make the band as enjoyable as a concert organization as when acting as the orchestra at a theatre.

The street car tracks leading to the park have been relocated at the entrance for the greater convenience of the public. Everything is being done by Mr. Harris to make Idlewild more popular and more attractive than ever.

It will pay to keep an eye on the announcements as some very interesting things will be seen at Newark's park this season.

Norbert E. Dorente and wife of Chicago have arrived in Newark, where they will make their home for the summer.

Mr. Dorente will be remembered by many Newark people as being leading rian and also stage manager with the Chicago Stock company, which has played here for several seasons.

Manager Harris of Idlewild park has been fortunate to secure the services of Mr. Dorente for the coming season and he will be stage manager at the Idlewild Casino during the summer.

THE COURTS

WALDO THORP FOUND GUILTY BY THE JURY.

Injunction Suit Commenced--Appointed Master Commissioner--Real Estate Transfers.

Late Saturday afternoon the jury in the case of the State of Ohio vs. Waldo Thorp, charged with larceny of personal property, found the prisoner guilty, placing the value of the stolen property at $35.

Master Commissioner.

Frank P. Kennedy has been appointed master commissioner in the case of the Queen City Supply company against the Shaler Manufacturing company of this city.

Temporary Injunction.

Judge Coyner late Saturday afternoon issued a temporary injunction in the case of Frederic M. Black vs. Henry Riggleman. The action was brought to restrain Riggleman from interfering with the removal of a quantity of timber said to belong to Mr. Black, and which is located on the farm formerly belonging to Riggleman.

Cook Case is Settled.

George M. Cook settled Saturday with the county treasurer the dispute regarding his selling intoxicating liquors at his hotel in Pataskala, without having paid the Dow tax. The hotel was closed Friday by Deputy Treasurer C. L. V. Holtz, who claimed that Cook was owing the county $106 Dow tax. As Mr. Cook has not been operating the so-called saloon but a part of the time the amount was lowered and the matter compromised.

Lima township voted dry two years ago and whether Mr. Cook will be permitted to conduct the place is a matter to be decided by the citizens of Pataskala. Mr. Holtz has done his duty in regard to the collection of the Dow tax and it is now up to the people of Lima township to either close or permit the saloon to be operated.

Appointed Administrator.

Waldo Taylor has been appointed administrator of the estate of Eliza A. Harris, deceased. Bond $1000.

The extraordinary price of 1350 guineas was paid recently at Christie's in London, for a set of 12 illustrations in charcoal and wash by Fragonard.

A BRIEF BUT STIRRING COURTSHIP

Elise Marcel was a Louisiana creole. Her father and mother were pious people and insisted on Elise maintaining the same rigorous notions that governed them. She was not permitted to dance, and she must keep all the fast days and do penance for the slightest infraction of church rules.

Henry Souard, the son of a neighboring planter, met Elise one evening at a party and was captivated by her oval face, olive complexion, black eyes and the long cable of hair reaching nearly to her heels. He was a manly young fellow, without anything mean or selfish about him. He asked Elise to dance, but she declined, explaining that her parents forbade dancing and if she did so and they heard of it she would have to suffer. Henry looked disappointed, but declared that he would not bring trouble upon her for a world. Whereupon Elise was seized with a desire to suffer for his pleasure and insisted on dancing with him. When he found it impossible to dissuade her, he consented, and they danced together often during the rest of the evening. When Elise went home, she told her mother what she had done. Instead of making her do the usual penances Miss Marcel simply forbade her ever again to speak a word with Henry Souard.

The next time Henry saw Elise he was on horseback and Elise was ahead of him driving her pony. A man was riding beside her, talking to her and it was plain that Elise was offended, for she answered never a word. When Henry drew near, he saw that the offender was Jean Gaspard, a young man who had lately inherited a plantation, on which he lived by no means exemplary life. As soon as Henry came up Elise, with flashing eyes and burning cheeks, told him she desired that M. Gaspard would ride on and leave her alone. Henry rode up to her tormentor and cut him with his riding whip, then cutting Gaspard's horse, a high mettled beast, it shot on, carrying the rider far away.

That afternoon a friend of Gaspard's waited on Henry bearing a challenge. In that day dueling was common in the south, and Henry could not have declined to fight without meeting consequences as serious as fighting. The next morning the two men met with sharp pointed foils. Though Henry was the better fencer he was so indignant with his antagonist that he was under cautious. He received a flesh wound in the side. This ended the combat.

The meeting soon became common talk in the neighborhood, but as the people were not averse to dueling there were no arrests. "M. and M. Marcel not only heard of the affair, but of its cause. Elise, learning that Henry had been wounded, took her pony cart and drove to her father's plantation. She found him lying on a wicker couch on the veranda. Though they had seen each other but twice before, the episode in which Henry had defended her and afterward risked his life and was wounded on her account was quite enough to draw them to a climax. Not a word was spoken before Henry had clasped her and she had wound her arms about his neck. When they separated, they were betrothed.

It was a great shock to Miss Marcel when Elise drove home and told her that she was engaged to the man with whom she had danced and who had fought a duel for her.

"Mon Dieu," exclaimed the mother--"that I should have a child to love one who has tried to kill another! Our protecting saints surely will leave us a prey to the devil. Go to your room, wicked child, and if you ever again meet or speak to this would be murderer you must leave this house and your poor father and me that you may not jeopardize our immortal souls."

Elise's love and respect for her mother forbade her disobeying, and she went to her room, where her meals were sent to her for three days. Then she was told to go to confession. She promised her mother that she would speak to no one but the priest. The promise was sacredly kept, and when she returned she went at once to her room. For a week she remained day and night there, seeing no one, her meals brought to her. Then one morning she was called down into the great hall which served as a living room. There stood Father De Black, the parish priest, and there sat her mother on the old mahogany and hair cloth sofa.

"Embrace your daughter," said the old man kindly.

"Are you sure, father, that there will be no contamination?"

"There is no sin in contemplating whatever of sin there may be, it may would pertain to the young man. But there is no sin in defense. Has not our church found her defender in all generations since she was planted on earth? Are you not presumptuous to set up your interpretations of our doctrines?"

"Forgive me, father."

Elise stood over her mother and at this point bent down and the two women clasped in each other's arms. When they looked up the priest had withdrawn. Elise in a flutter of excitement and joy wrote the words, "Come when you are able," and sent them to Henry. He had been forbidden by his strict mother to wait for her for another week, but he had never heard Elise's name and he ordered a horse and wagon to be got ready and in ten minutes was on his way to the Marcel plantation. Elise met him at the gate and supported him to the house, where M. and Mrs. Marcel received him, though the latter could not refrain from crossing herself before she permitted him to touch her hand.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both Home of Swamp-Root, sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co. Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

NINETY-THREE

THE AGE OF J. M. LAMBERT WHO DIED FRIDAY.

Burial Took Place Sunday in Newton Township, Elder Pritchard Preaching Funeral Discourse.

One of Licking county's oldest and best citizens passed away from earth to the better land Friday afternoon in the person of James M. Lambert, the venerable father of County Commissioner John M. Lambert. Mr. Lambert died at the home of his son in Newton township, which had been his home for many years, at the time indicated, at the advanced age of 93 years from a general failure of the vital powers incident to old age. He leaves a son, County Commissioner John M. Lambert, and two daughters to mourn the loss of one of the best of fathers, his wife having preceded him to the spirit land some years ago. The deceased was an active, well preserved man, retaining his mental faculties and physical powers unimpaired up to within a short time of his death. He was a kind and loving husband and father, an active man and a good citizen, and a true Christian. The funeral services took place from the late home in Newton township on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, the funeral discourse being preached at St. Louisville by Elder Pritchard and the interment was made at Homer his former home. Thus has one of Licking county's pioneer citizens, full of years and of honor, been gathered to the fathers after a long life of usefulness.

OUR TWO OPINIONS
By Eugene Field

Two wuz boys when we fell out—
Nigh to the age uv my youngest now;
Don't recollect what 'twuz about,
Some small deeff'ence, I'll allow,
Lived next neighbors twenty years,
A-havin' each other, me 'nd Jim—
He havin' his opinyin uv me,
'Nd I havin' my opinyin uv him.

Grew up together 'nd wouldn't speak,
'Courtin' sisters, 'nd marr'd 'em, too;
'Tended same, meeth'-house, chert a week,
A-hatin' each other through 'nd through—
But when Abe Linker asked the West
F'r soldiers, we answered—me 'nd Jim—
'Tried to get the army boys
He havin' his opinyin uv me,
'Nd I havin' my opinyin uv him.

But down in Tennessee one night
Ther' wuz sound of firin' fur away,
'Nd the sargeant allowed there'd be a fight
With the Johnnie Rebs some time nex' day;
'Nd as I wuz thinkin' uv Lizzie 'nd home,
Jim stood afore me, long 'nd slim—
He havin' his opinyin uv me,
'Nd I havin' my opinyin uv him.

Seemed like we knew there wuz goin' to be Serious trouble f'r me 'nd him;
Us two shuck hands, did Jim 'nd me,
But never a word from me or Jim!
He went his way 'nd I went mine,
'Nd into the battle's rear went we—
I havin' my opinyin uv Jim,
'Nd he havin' his opinyin uv me.

Jim never come back from the war again,
But I hain't forgot that last, last night,
When waitin' f'r orders, us two men
Made up 'nd shuck hands, afore the fight.
'Nd, after it all, it's soothin' to know
That here I be 'nd yonder's Jim—
He havin' his opinyin uv me,
'Nd I havin' my opinyin uv him.

MIDGET MAYOR

Is Weed Against Whom Serious Charges Have Been Preferred—Weed Says He's No Hobo.

Saturday's Advocate contained a special telegram from Columbus telling of the application for the removal of Mayor Weed of Arnesville on the ground that he is an habitual drunkard, mentally incapable and grossly immoral.

Weed is the "Midget Mayor" who, since his election, has been widely exploited because of his miniature size. He is a dwarf, 40 years old, and is only four feet and one inch in height. He is rather stocky, however, so that he runs the scales up to 105 pounds. He was in fact, nominated and elected on the same day, and his election was the result of a joke. But one name had been printed on the ballot—F. W. Gibson, a prominent business man of the place—but some of Weed's friends proposed that he be voted for, his name being written in. The word was passed around among the wags, and when the votes were counted out it was found that 42 votes had been cast and each had secured 21 votes. The rival candidates then drew cuts, and the honor and the office fell to Weed.

Weed claims to have been a traveler rather than a "hobo," and says he has been in every state in the union and in most of the countries of South America.

1901 to Miss Katherine Dorr of Buffalo. When but twelve years of age, Mr. Loeb was obliged to leave school, but from his small earnings saved enough to continue his education. At the age of twenty-one he was elected official stenographer of the New York state assembly, and this marked the beginning of his successful career.

CHAS. STEWART

Died Monday Morning at His Home
South of Cherry Valley School House, Aged 40.

The many friends of Mr. Charles W. Stewart in Newark and throughout Licking county, will be pained to learn of his death, which occurred at his home south of Cherry Valley school house, about one mile west of the city, at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The deceased was a son of the late J. Y. Stewart, one of the most prominent farmers of Licking county, and was aged about 40 years. About 16 years ago he was married to Miss Jennie Taylor, a daughter of Thomas M. Taylor, and from this union one son, Carl, was born. Besides the wife and son who are left to mourn his death he leaves two brothers, John, of Chillicothe, Mo., and Edward L., of the Great Western Clothing store this city, and three sisters, Mrs. John Kirkpatrick, of Newton township; Mrs. John McMillen, who lives two miles west of the city, and Miss Maggie Stewart of 240 West Church street.

For many years the deceased was connected with the Great Western Clothing store of this city, and was considered one of the best salesmen in the city.

The funeral will probably take place from his late home on Wednesday morning, although no definite arrangements have as yet been made.

MAD DOG

Bit a Cow Owned by William Morgan in Granville Township, and She May Have to be Killed.

Two weeks ago a fine hound owned by Mr. William Morgan, a farmer living 2 1/2 miles west of Granville, was suddenly seized with rabies. The mad dog bit a cow owned by Mr. Morgan and also attacked several dogs in the neighborhood. The dogs were all killed.

Mr. C. R. Stark of Granville township, told the Advocate Saturday that the cow has now developed symptoms of the disease and may have to be killed. Dr. W. E. Clemens of Granville who was called to examine the cow is of the opinion that the cow is not afflicted with rabies but that the trouble with which she is afflicted is from another cause.

THE Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Palmer and ex-Secretary Percy Speak—Prof. Childs Will Speak Next Sunday.

The interest and attendance at the Y. M. C. A. Men's Meeting is keeping up remarkably well this spring. Although the perfect weather yesterday afternoon was most alluring to tempt men to a stroll or a ride on the cars one hundred and twenty were present in Taylor Hall to hear Dr. I. N. Palmer's address. The Doctor gave a very interesting talk on the "Symmetrical Life," as typified in the young manhood of Jesus. It is said of Him in Luke II, 52, "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favour with God and man."

Mr. John G. Percy, the former secretary of the Association gave those present a very pleasant surprise by coming in to the meeting quite unexpectedly. Mr. Percy responded to the request of Secretary Ebersole and gave a very excellent talk following that of Dr. Palmer. His many friends were delighted to see and hear Mr. Percy again. He is just returning from Topeka, Kansas, where he was in attendance at the International convention of the Railroad Young Men's Christian Association of North America.

The music at yesterday's meeting was exceptionally fine. Marsh's orchestra gave three numbers and Mr. Harry Payne sang "Ora Pro Nobis," with splendid effect.

Next Sunday Prof. E. P. Childs will give the address, and the High school Glee club will furnish the music.
